

there should be some kind of rules concerning content. the problem is, you idiots at the fcc should enforce these laws instead of giving your own personal opinions. you people act like those imbeciles on the supreme court.
thank you